Fire Still Smolders Near Memorial Park, Burns Over 150 Acres

A brush fire near Memorial Park in southwestern San Mateo County still was smoldering Monday, although under control, after covering 150 acres in three days.

A crew from the county fire station at Pescadero was extinguishing burning stumps and leaf mold today inside a 2½-mile fire trail which firemen had cut around the blaze.

The fire was reported Friday afternoon, and crews from county stations in Redwood City, La Honda Summit and Pescadero battled it until 9 o'clock Saturday night before bringing it under control.

Boys from the Log Cabin Ranch, residents of the area and state crews rushed to the scene to aid firemen, and at one time as many as 50 persons were fighting the fire.

Four caterpillar bulldozers were put to work cutting the trail around the fire, and criss-crossing the burning area in an attempt to pinch out the blaze.

Rugged territory, tangles of underbrush and darkness hindered the efforts of the fire fighters. The only buildings menaced were early Saturday when the fire ate its way to within 100 yards of the cabins at Oakland YMCA camp.

Fickeisen May Get Reinstatement

John W. Fickeisen, discharged county chief sanitarian, will be reinstated in his job with back pay, and he will have a review of his dismissal over taking surplus county property from Canyon Sanatorium last April to his home on Kings Mountain, or officials will show cause Monday why this should not be done, Superior Judge A. R. Cotton ruled Tuesday.

Fickeisen filed two petitions in superior court Tuesday. One was against the civil service commission for a new hearing, on the grounds that he did not believe he got a fair hearing prior to his dismissal, and that the charges were false.

The other was against the commission and Frederick Peterson, county executive, who ordered Dr. Charles Gans, director of the health department to dismiss Fickeisen, and against Gans. This second one was for a writ of mandate asking the court to force the officials named in the suit to reinstate Fickeisen at his salary of $371 a month, with back pay; that the court hold that the dismissal was null and void; and that the officials pay the court costs.

Ravenswood Buys New School Bus

Ravenswood School District Board Tuesday purchased a 42-passenger school bus from the Superior Bus and Ambulance Co. for $4100. The bus goes into operation immediately, supplementing the bus already in use.

The school trustees opened the single bid for a bus at a special meeting at the Ravenswood School. Paul Henry, superintendent of schools, told the board that children who live less than three-quarters of a mile from either Willow or Ravenswood Schools are crowding the district's bus system.

Henry said that he will distribute bus passes next week to children who live outside the three-quarter mile mark. Only those with a pass will be allowed to ride on either of the district's two buses.

The total enrollment figure for the district stood yesterday at 1020, Henry told the board. He said that there are 590 pupils at Ravenswood School and 430 at Willow School. Enrollment has jumped almost 100 per cent since June, 1946, Henry pointed out. At the close of the 1945-1946 school year there were 590 students in the school system. When school ended last June the enrollment was 796.

Willow School, Henry said, must have another first grade class. There are 83 children registered in two classes at the school. Henry said last night that he would continue to look for new classroom facilities in the community. Every classroom is now in use twice a day, he told the trustees.

Sen. Knowland Visits SM County

"This country is the greatest — and the last — great hope for peace in the world today," Sen. William F. Knowland said in an address before 100 constituents this week in Uncle Tom's Cabin in San Bruno.

Senator Knowland stopped off Tuesday in San Mateo County on his way to Los Angeles, San Diego and thence to Washington, D. C., and Europe.

In an impromptu speech, without benefit of notes, he discussed the Marshall plan, atomic energy, the United Nations, national defense, the Taft-Hartley bill, and the work doe by the 80th Congress.

Boys End Trip In Dog Wagon

Two San Francisco boys who left Log Cabin Ranch Sunday ended their short-lived excursion back at the ranch after a ride in the dog catcher's truck.

County Poundmaster Francis J. Wyman said that he was driving along Coast Hwy. near San Gregorio yesterday evening when he saw the pair of 16-year-olds hitchhiking along the road. Wyman radioed the sheriff's office and was told that two boys resembling their descriptions had escaped from the detention camp.

Seven Hurt In Accidents

Four persons were injured in automobile accidents during the weekend in San Mateo County, according to the California Highway Patrol. One of the injured was a man who was found wandering along Junipero Serra Blvd. 12 hours after he was hurt. A 4-year-old boy was hurt in South San Francisco and two more persons were injured in Redwood City.

George R. D'Oliva, 21, 236 Hillcrest Dr., Millbrae, was found Saturday afternoon and was treated at Mills Memorial Hospital.

Highway patrolmen said that his car was demolished when it plunged down a 40-foot bank early Saturday morning after it failed to negotiate a turn at the intersection of the highway and its intersection.

The sedan skidded 50 feet, climbed a two-foot bank and then plunged to the bottom of the ravine. D'Oliva lay unconscious in the car for several hours, finally wandered to the highway and was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

John J. Nyhan, 55, a San Francisco court bailiff, and Ruth Lucciola, 25, of 981 Hardin St., East Palo Alto, suffered minor injuries in a collision Sunday afternoon at Junipero Serra Blvd. and San Pedro Rd.

They were injured when cars driven by Nyhan and Fletcher Leake Jr., 28, a navy chief storekeeper from Moffett Field, collided.

PFC Frank E. Kynoch, 17, of Richmond, was treated for a cut on his nose after the car he was driving crashed into a telephone pole on El Camino Real south of Redwood City. CHP officers reported that a rear wheel of Kynoch's car fell off, and the vehicle swerved into the pole.

John Curti, 4, of 215 Orange Ave., South San Francisco, was treated and dismissed at South San Francisco Hospital for lacerations suffered when he was struck by a car driven by John Mario Biga, 343 Ashton Ave., South San Francisco.

Two men suffered injuries in Redwood City automobile accidents Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday at 3:50 p.m., Clement Breitner, 42, 282 C St., suffered a cut on his forehead when his automobile and one driven by Giogio Penzato, 62, San Francisco, collided on Bayshore Hwy, at Harbor Blvd.

Saturday at 7:11 p.m. Kenneth McLeod, 335 Sansom St., suffered a possible fractured hip when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph F. Thielman, 16, 245 Alden St. The pedestrian was hit at Arguello and Alden Sts.

RC Man Arrested On Drunk Charge

James G. Campbell, 24, Oak Ave., was arrested by Redwood City police on a charge of drunkenness on Redwood Ave.

He pleaded guilty before Police Judge W. H. Thorpe Monday and Thorpe set Friday morning as the time for passing sentence. Bail was set at $250.

Wants Sleep Too Much, Lands in Jail

Because his sleep was disturbed once too often, Oscar B. Fisher, 370 Cambridge Ave., Palo Alto, 58-year-old head painter for the Palo Alto Unified School Dist., today was in the city jail.

According to police reports, Fisher said he was awakened about 5:30 this morning by a loud noise across the street from his home. Fisher got up, went across the street, and demanded to know who was making the racket.

"I am," said Garbageman Phillip Mibelli of San Jose, who was accompanied by his fellow worker, Edward Walters, of the same city.

Fisher declared, "I'm tired of being awakened every morning," whereupon, Fisher told police, Mibelli answered with an improper and obscene suggestion.

Fisher then pulled a pistol from his pocket, according to the report, and exhibited a Marin County deputy sheriff's badge with the demand that Mibelli cease making the objectionable noise.

Walters, not cowed by Fisher's exhibit of the weapon, talked the householder into putting his gun away and returning to his home, police said.

Later, Mibelli made a complaint to police, who arrested Fisher on a charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon in a threatening manner.

The sensational Sailor divorce case was before a superior court judge Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Patricia Sailor present to answer charges made by her husband.

The original complaint was filed by Sailor and charged his wife with cruelty. Later he was permitted to amend his complaint and he inserted the charge of adultery.

Mrs. Sailor was wearing a blue wool dress, blue shoes, a short white wool coat and a small blue straw hat. Her face was covered with a veil.

The case was before Judge Schottky for a hearing on Mrs. Sailor's request of $750 monthly for temporary alimony pending the settlement of the case. Sailor Saturday filed another affidavit, claiming that he has an income of only $650 a month from a trust fund tied up by a "spendthrift" clause.

Sailor Saturday also charged that his wife wanted the alimony only because her mother, Mrs, Sylvia McKeon, needed the money. He claimed that his wife had refused to make him a "normal American home" or bear him children because it would interfere with her social life and horseback riding.

Mrs. Sailor, when asked where she had spent the past three months, said that she had been staying in hotels and "moving about" to keep her husband from molesting her. She refused to state where she now was living, declaring she didn't want Sailor to find out.

"My husband has made so many accusations, I thought it about time to appear and have the truth told," she told reporters.

The case was scheduled for court about 11 a.m., but because of other cases was postponed by Judge Schottky until 1:30 Monday afternoon.

Sailor, accompanied by his attorney, Adron Beene of Palo Alto, and Graham Moulton, a private detective from San Jose, arrived at court a half-hour before the case was scheduled to be heard.

Sailor, a wiry, dark-haired man of 30, said that his wife formerly was married to Jack Billington III of Portland, but that the marriage had been annulled. The willowy Patricia McKeon was employed as a model in a San Francisco store when he met her and married her.

'Climate Best' Sign To Get Paint Job

Redwood City's "climate best by government test" signs are slated to get a new paint job, City Mgr. E. W. Blom said Tuesday.

He pointed out that at present the southern sign has an enamel background while the northern one has a plain paint background. Both backgrounds will be enameled this time, he continued.

Group to Plan Christmas Celebration for Veterans

Plans for the Christmas decorations and celebrations at the veterans' hospital in East Palo Alto will be discussed when the Veterans' Hospital Christmas Committee meets with its board of directors executive committee Monday night at the city hall in San Mateo. The meeting has been called by Pres. A. H. Sagehorn for 8 o'clock.

The committee just completed a successful week participating in the San Mateo County Fiesta, the president said. A booth featuring the Christmas theme handed out pamphlets giving information on the workings of the committee and listing the names of the 1946 donors including more than 150 county organizations and interested individuals. Don Owen of San Carlos helped in compiling these.

Checks are already starting to come in for this year's activities, Sagehorn said, following an appeal sent out last month that organizations budget with this coordinating endeavor in mind. Groups will be contacted again for their contributions the latter part of October.

On display at the fiesta booth was the handiwork of the veterans at the Administration Hospital in Palo Alto. Weaving, book-binding, ceramics and metal work were among the things shown. In keeping with the floral scheme was a large water color by a promising young artist at the nospital showing a cactus plant in bloom.

The good wishes of Gen. A. W. Waldron, manager of the hospital were extended the committee for a successful booth at the fiesta.

Committee members and representatives from local groups manned the booth.

Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Sagehorn of San Carlos; Mrs. Belton Rhodes of San Mateo, executive committee member and legion auxiliary representative; Mrs. Thelma Dow, sister of Mrs. Rhodes; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Zelver of Redwood City; Mrs. Augusta Lindsay, Burlingame and Mrs. Shirley Greene, San Mateo, all of B'nai B'rith; Mrs. Lester West of San Carlos, president of the local PTA unit and daughter, Kathie and Mr. West; Mrs. Edwin De Curtoni, San Carlos Civic Garden Club and AWVS member; Mrs. Stanley Fryer, San Carlos committee secretary and Mr. Fryer; Mr. Alton Cook of Redwood City, president San Jose Lapidary Society; Mr. and Mrs. Willys R. Peck, Belmont, and niece Gretchen Reynolds of Hillsborough, and Jim and Ed Brown of San Carlos.

Mrs. Edwin Lobazin, chairman of the San Carlos AWVS and board member of the garden club helped in decorating the stand and also assisted during the fiesta. A dry floral arrangement to match the Christmas theme was arranged for the booth by Mrs. R. M. Zemke of the garden club, assisted by her son.

James J. Kehoe, San Mateo, president of the Veterans' Committee and Edward J. Foley, public relations chairman arranged details with the fiesta for the booth.

Plan Stamp Club For Redwood City

A stamp collection club will be organized in Redwood City on Tuesday evening, October 30, at 7:30 in the craft room at Firehouse 2 on Jefferson Ave. and Myrtle Sts.

enthusiasts of Redwood City brought out 28 interested collectors who decided that a club should be formed and that the group would meet twice each month with headquarters at the recreation department's craft room.

At the meeting on Oct. 30 the charter members of this organization will elect officers and set up a program to be followed by the club members.

Any local resident interested in stamp collecting should come to this meeting, Recreation Dir. Alfred (Red) Morton said. The club is being sponsored by the Redwood City Recreation Dept.

EPA Group Urges Talks On Freeway

A special committee formed last month to fight the proposed Bayshore Freeway in East Palo Alto has asked the San Mateo County Planning Commission and Palo Alto's Mayor J. Byron Blois to arrange meetings with the committee for a discussion of the freeway problem.

The committee, composed of representatives of East Palo Alto civic and municipal organizations, opposes widening of the present Bayshore Highway into an eight-lane divided freeway and urges the state to build the freeway nearer the bay and around the community.

No replies have yet been received from the planning commission or from Mayor Blois, J. H. Stubbe, committee chairman, said this morning.

Blois has been asked to arrange a meeting of Palo Alto officials with the committee because members feel that the city should be concerned with truck traffic which would be funneled down University Ave. from the one turnoff from the freeway.

A statement of reasons why the committee is fighting the proposed freeway has been sent to the planning commission. It states that the group has decided the highway will "become a menace to the district if converted into a freeway in its present location."

The freeway, the committee says, will cause an approximate $250,000 reduction in assessed valuation which will work a hardship on the school district.

"If the present highway is made into a freeway, it will prevent the development of a good transportation system, interfere with school transportation, and reduce the efficiency of the fire department," the statement reads.

Council Votes To Employ Matrons Here

City councilmen voted Monday to hire married women for city positions with the stipulation that they shall not qualify for civil service protection.

This motion was carried after a recommendation by City Mgr. E. W. Blom that married women be employed without qualification, was defeated by a 4-3 vote, Mayor W. W. Hilton and Councilmen Floyd D. Granger, George McNulty and H. E. (Rowdy) Holmquist voting against the proposal.

Blom made his recommendation because he said the city was unable to obtain single women to fill its positions. He said that he and the Board of Review urged the change in employment regulations for that reason.

Councilman W. M. (Bill) Werder moved that the recommendation be approved, but his motion was lost when Granger claimed that the "time is coming when it will be up to the head of the family" to again bring home the pay check. He said he had no objection to married women who are the sole support of a family being given civil service status.

On a roll call vote, Werder's motion was defeated. Then Granger made his motion which was carried despite the dissenting votes by Werder and Carl (Ike) Britschgi.

Civic Council Attends Session

Seven delegates from the Redwood City Council for Civic Unity recently attended a working conference of the California Councils held in Berkeley.

The Redwood City group was praised for its compaign against racial and religious bigotry by Mrs. Ruth Kingman, president of the California Council.

Daly City Shooting Remains Mystery

The mystery of who fired the shot that killed Charles Gustafson, 82, in his Daly City room last Saturday, still remained a mystery Tuesday as far as the district attorney's office was concerned.

A. S. Whitmore, chief deputy district attorney, said today: "We still don't know who fired the shot or whether it was accidental or intentional."

He said he questioned Mrs. Gertrude Adams, wife of Laurence G. Adams, 40, in whose home the incident occurred, but that "she did not make a clear statement. The case needs a lot of further investigation."

Whitmore said he intended to question Norman White, 14, Mrs. Adams' son by a former marriage, this afternoon, and also would question Adams. Adams is now held in the county jail and the youth is at the county juvenile home.

Gustafson, former husband of Mrs. Adams, said in a deathbed statement that the bullet was intended for his former wife.

Mae Koblentz Gets Library Job

Mae Koblentz of New York City was appointed Tuesday to succeed Margaret Goodloe as children's librarian, the Board of Trustees of the Redwood City Public Library announced Wednesday.

The board accepted the resignation of Miss Goodloe who has taken the position of librarian in the Redwood City elementary schools.

According to the librarian's annual report read at yesterday's meeting, 158,138 books were circulated during the past year, 1655 over the previous year. Reading room attendance was set at 18,594, 4170 higher than last year's figure.

85 MILLION DOLLARS WORTH of New Sierra Powerhouses!

HARD and heavy work is underway today along the upper reaches of the Feather, Mokelumne and Yuba Rivers. P.G. and E., at a cost of $85,000,000 is building five new hydroelectric powerhouses to add 464,000 horsepower to the power supply of Northern and Central California. Road, foundation and tunneling crews are now rushing work to beat the rains and snows of winter.

ROCK CREEK—North fork of the Feather River, to cost $35,400,000, will deliver 169,000 horsepower.

CRESTA—North fork of the Feather River, to cost $26,400,000, will deliver 101,000 horsepower.

COLGATE—on the Yuba River, to cost $3,325,000, will deliver 40,000 horsepower.

ELECTRA—on the Mokelumne River, to cost $15,600,000, will deliver 133,000 horsepower.

WEST POINT—on the Mokelumne River, to cost $4,000,000, will deliver 21,000 horsepower.

These new hydroelectric plants are part of the greatest construction program in the history of the P. G. and E.—a $350 million expansion plan that will add 1,000,000 electric horsepower to the company's system by 1951.

GARDEN: Menlo Park Man Authority for Orchidists

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

If Mrs. L. W. Hicks of Richmond, and any others interested in growing orchids from seed, will contact the treasurer of the Peninsula Orchid Society, they can get the supplies needed for the project reasonably. His name is Charles A. Drace, 1245 Altschul Ave., Menlo Park. I believe that the nutrients, culture flasks, tubes for sterilizing seeds, chromel wire, the holder, filter paper, filtering funnel, pH indicator, pipette etc. come to under $5.00 for one of each. I think it's fine that a society dedicated to a certain flower, takes the trouble to have supplies on hand, reasonably, for interested beginners.

It seems the San Mateo County Fiesta officials got all set to celebrate the centennial of the introduction of chrysanthemums into the United States at the '47 fiesta starting Monday, Sept. 9. Then, Norvell Gillespie, manager of the fair, found out that chrysanthemums were being grown in this country as early as 1829, and that variety William Penn was exhibited in Philadelphia in 1841.

Sacramento greenthumbers may still be too breathless to attend, after the State Fair closing, but my favorite grapevine says many East Bay folks are planning to attend.

Really it doesn't make a lot of difference, but it's strange how many ways people spell my name in sending letters, you'd think this column was running without benefit of a By-Line. Example of ways NOT to spell it, but recently received: Raleigh, Rollo, Polly, Wally, Robert, Rolley, Lolly, (that one came Lolly Rangley); Rollie, Rally, Rully, Collie, and Cholly. Greenthumbers in Southern California, south of the Tehachapis, are the best dreamers of these aliases for me.

"We are unable almost to grow anything in the south end of our garden due to the mass of fine roots which fill the soil. The flower bed is along a brick wall. We built a low retaining wall and raised the flower bed, hoping to get away from the roots. But it seems impossible to do so. The azalaea and fuchsias need constant watering, and the tuberous begonias haven't begun to bloom this year, though I apply fertilizer.

"I don't seem able to trace the origin of the roots, and am wondering if you could tell what they might come from. At the east end is a wisteria vine, in the center a grapevine, and at the west end is a cherry tree. There is a black walnut tree in the alley and an English walnut in the yard. In the alley, against the brick wall are geraniums which have been there for some time."

I believe it's one of the trees — either the black walnut, or the English walnut (perhaps grafted on black walnut stock.) Trees will send roots a long way after plant food and water. So will wisteria. Had you heard about the lemon planted in a gully? The banks on either side were higher than the top of the tree, but the lemon sent roots up to a place kept fertile and moist on the bank, high above the top of the tree.

You can chop off the roots at the edge of the garden plot, and then several feet back, dig a trench, put soda or salt in the trench and soak it down. The tree roots will stop, won't penetrate the subterranean soda curtain, especially if moisture is supplied the feeder roots before they come to the curtain.

Wednesday, Sept. 3, is Garden Club Day at the California State Fair in Sacramento. Mrs. Frederick M. Scatena, three times president of California Garden Clubs will be chairman of the day. Many distinguished guests will be present at the tea in Sunset Gardens, where special arrangements and a musical program will be enjoyed.

When visiting the fair, be sure to save plenty of time for the Hall of Flowers.

Miss A. P. Kreisel of Sacramento ought to take her Pearl Harbor tomatoes to the fair. . . . So loaded the vines keep breaking the supporting stakes—and eight feet tall.

Menlo Park Named Dibble Custodian

Menlo Park has been made custodian of the 30-acre Dibble Hospital recreation area it eventually hopes to obtain from War Assets Administration.

Mayor Charles P. Burgess and Don A. Biggs, acting regional head of War Assets Administration, signed papers yesterday afternoon in San Francisco which makes the city of Menlo Park responsible for the care and maintenance of the property and at the same time makes available to residents recreation facilities and a badly-needed meeting place.

The recreation area is located between Fifth St. and the railroad tracks and was recently declared surplus by WAA.

Burgess said this morning that leases for three buildings on the property are to be drawn up by the WAA. The corporation yard and warehouses, in use for some time by the city's street department, shop building, and the fire house will be leased by the city.

The shop building will be used as a recreation hall and public meeting place, Burgess said. The fire house will eventually be used as a police station. No transfer of the department is planned at present.

Other facilities located in the recreation area are a gymnasium, swimming pool and theater. The Sanitary District Board hopes to obtain property in the area and the National Guard plans erection of an armory somewhere on the 30 acres.

The San Francisco office of the WAA has not yet completed an appraisal of the property, Burgess reports. When the appraisal is finished and a discount rate fixed, the city will be given the purchase price of the property.

$600 Stolen In Cafe Burglary

About $600 in small change was stolen from the Seven-Mile House, at the corner of Geneva Ave. and Bayshore Hwy. early Sunday morning by burglars who ripped out bars and a heavy screen from a window to gain entrance.

Sabastian Nieri, the owner of the cafe, reported that he closed up at 12:30 a.m. and that the burglary was discovered about 8 a.m. when the bartender opened up.

Deputy sheriffs said that bolt cutters evidently were used on the quarter-inch iron screen, after iron bars had been jimmied loose. The burglars crawled through a 12 by 18 inch hole they cut in the screen.

About $200 of the money was in rolls of nickles taken from the office of the cafe. In addition, $40 in change was taken from the till in the main room of the cafe.

The burglars had tried to open a window closer to the front of the building, the officers said, but evidently abandoned it because of light cast on it from passing cars and street lamps.

RC Infant Amazes... Stands at 3 Months

BY OTTO TALLENT

Meet Miss Loretta Dichiera.

Little Miss Loretta is a cute little trick who can do what few if any, youngsters her age can do.

Loretta, 4-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dichiera, 409 St. Francis St., can stand up by herself and can chin herself on her parents' fingers and on a broom.

That's old stuff for the little tyke. She has been doing these things nigh on a month now.

She first got onto these tricks, which it usually takes babies from six to eight months to do, when Papa sneaked her out of her bed in the mornings and played with her before other members of the family got up. Papa didn't let Mama in on the secret until about two weeks ago.

Loretta was christened at Mt. Carmel Church Sunday and her folks had a dinner afterwards for 30 persons. Little Loretta was in her glory showing off to her newly acquired friends. The visitors thought the standing and balancing was quite a feat for one so young — and so the story got out.

Loretta, who is of small build and weighs 13¼ pounds, crept frog fashion when only three weeks old. She already stands up in her Taylor Tot. She doesn't care for sitting Mama confides. Wants to stand up all the time she's awake.

The little miss has two sisters, Shirley, a sophomore at Sequoia High School, and Jacqueline, in the eighth grade at McKinley Intermediate School. Papa is a cement contractor. Her family has lived in Redwood City eight years.

Only time will tell what feats Loretta may have accomplished by the time she reaches the ripe old age of one year.

Sequoia Shows 165 Student Gain

Final enrollment figures at Sequoia High School, released today by Supt. A. C. Argo show that the enrollment at the school has been increased by 165 students over last year's figure.

Attendance today was set by Argo at 2308 compared with 2143 last year. Greatest growth was in the freshman class, Argo said, which totaled 102 more pupils than last year.

A breakdown of Sequoia enrollment was as follows:

	Boys	Girls	Total
Freshmen	320	343	683
Sophomores	311	259	570
Juniors	268	294	562
Seniors	237	261	503
	1138	1157	2308

Argo said that for the first time in many years, more girls had enrolled in the school than boys.

Burlingame Man's Estate Exceeds $10,000

A petition to probate the will of Fred Heiniger of Burlingame was filed for probate in superior court today by his widow, Mrs. Anna Heiniger, 1332 Sanchez Ave.

Mr. Heiniger, a partner in the Broadway Heating and Sheet Metal Works, died Sept. 9, and left a 20-word holographic will naming his wife executrix and leaving her his estate, valued in excess of $10,000.

Supervisors to Draw Slate For Licensing Businesses

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday will set up a schedule of fees for licensing businesses in the unincorporated areas of the county.

The board set a special meeting, starting at 9 a.m., for its discussion of the fees to be entered in the business license ordinance which was give partial approval at a meeting a month ago.

The ordinance was drawn up by Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan, who left blank the amounts to be paid by business men.

At a short meeting yesterday afternoon, the supervisors also:

Commended by resolution County Agricultural Comsr. Max Leonard and his staff for their work at the California State Fair, where the county won the floral sweepstakes.

Approved the issuance of permits to 17 hog ranches in the Colma area and turned down four which did not pass health department sanitary regulations.

Instructed the district attorney to draw up a lease for a seven-room house on Howard Ave., Burlingame, for the newly-approved child guidance clinic. The lease is to run for two years at $150 a month. The clinic gets official standing Friday, 30 days after the ordinance for its creation was adopted.

Referred to the state highway commission complaints that trucks in East Palo Alto are parking on the right of way, almost on the shoulder of Bayshore Hwy.

Social Living Scores Win ...Unopposed...in RC Forum

A one-sided forum on social living vs. history and English was held Tuesday at the first meeting of the Sequoia Adult School Public Forum as four members of the Sequoia High School faculty spoke in favor of social living.

Speakers on the forum, which was held at the San Carlos Central School, were Dr. Earl Peckham, new curriculum director, Harvey Hall, head of the English department, Louise Watkins and Mary Cowden, both social living instructors.

Among those present in the audience was Sequoia's superintendent, A. C. Argo.

A second forum on the same topic at which time both sides of the controversy will be presented is scheduled for Sept. 30, according to Emmett Mahoney, director of the forum.

Social living, however, drew first blood Tuesday as all four speakers spoke on behalf of Sequoia's two hour core course, under fire by Dr. John C. Almack of Stanford University as the cause for low test results in English and history.

Dr. Peckham outlined the history of social living courses throughout the country and asserted that social living courses allow educators to give all students equal opportunity to study life through the correlation of history and English into a single unit. The old program does not suit the needs of students today, so the new method has been presented, Dr. Peckham declared.

Miss Watkins summarized the development of social living at Sequoia during the past 13 years and stressed the importance of the course in bringing students and teachers into closer relationship.

She said that social living, besides combining history and English takes in other activities such as social understanding, student government, current events, music, art, and enrichment of culture, and vocational guidance.

She indicated that the ultimate goal of a social living course is that the classroom becomes the "homeroom," a place of security for students in a large school.

Hall explained to the audience the English unit in a social living course brings the student into contact with reading, speech, literature and compositional skills.

Miss Cowden outlined the aims of social studies in a core course, listing the aims as getting the student to understand society, his place in it, and how he can contribute to it; giving the student a perspective of the past in order that he can understand the present and determine the future; and teaching the student man's control over nature, cooperation, communication, study of government, and man's spiritual, intellectual and artistic abilities.

SC Residents Rap Pulgas Plans

A delegation of 40 San Carlos residents who live on the Alameda de las Pulgas Monday appeared before the San Carlos Planning Commission to protest the proposed widening of the Alameda into a secondary highway.

Residents claimed that the value of their property had dropped as much as $1000 because of the talk of turning the Alameda into a large highway.

The commission had previously recommended that City Engineer Robert Klassen be authorized by the city council to draw up setback lines for the proposed highway and last night took no further action on the issue.

Victor Stoltz, spokesman for the Alameda residents claimed that the group was protesting because the highway would be a safety hazard, would reduce property value, and would ruin a first class residential district.

Klassen told the residents that a freeway like the Bayshore Freeway or El Camino Real is not planned, but that the Alameda would be turned into an intercity secondary road.

He explained that because of high assessments, the highway ultimately would be a state project.

Stoltz said that the residents on the Alameda did not object to paving the Alameda, but did not want it made into a four lane highway.

Commissioners explained to the residents that before any action can be taken, set back lines for the road must be drawn up and that a hearing would then be held before the commission.

Recommendations would then be turned over to the city council and a second hearing would be held.

Klassen said that because of the involved procedure, the highway project is in "the distant future."

Many residents objected to the proposed highway because their homes would have to be set back from the highway which, they claimed, would result in condemnation suits.

555 Enroll At Menlo School

Menlo School and Junior College opened the new school year Monday with a record fall enrollment of 555 students, Pres. William E. Kratt announced Monday afternoon.

A breakdown in the enrollment figure shows that there are 363 junior college students and 192 high school registrants. More than 150 veterans are enrolled.

Old students returning for the fall semester found new changes and additions to the campus they left last Spring. For the first time in the history of the school the college campus facilities will house only junior college students.

High school students will live and attend classes at Douglass Hall. New dormitories have been installed there. In addition, a mail room and new parking areas have been built on the Douglass addition.

A new science building is being used for the first time. The new unit is located on MacBain Ave. and is an all-steel, pre-fabricated structure obtained from the government. The science building can accommodate four times the number of students the old physics and chemistry laboratories handled.

Advance Gift Group Collects $4000

More than $4000 has been collected in the first two weeks of the advance Community Chest Drive, Brooke Halsey, local Community Chest chairman, announced Monday.

Redwood City's quota this year is $34,233, Halsey said, 10 per cent over any previous quota.

A committee of industrial employes of the CIO and AFL has been set up for the first time, Halsey said. The committee is headed by Wayne Reed and Louis Querantes.

The employes' drive will start next Monday, Halsey said.

P.A. Woman Gets Library Position

Dorothy Hamilton, former Palo Alto children's librarian, has been hired as librarian of the San Carlos Elementary Schols, Supt. Ruth Melendy announced Monday.

Miss Melendy said that Miss Hamilton had been given the job by a verbal agreement with the board of trustees last Spring but that the appointment had not been made until she completed a school librarian course at San Jose State College.

The superintendent said that Miss Hamilton had been hired as a full time librarian and has helped set up the school library for the entire district.

Previously the district had operated a library for the schools but had not hired a librarian.

Miss Melendy commended Miss Hamilton's work with children in Palo Alto and declared, "We are well acquainted with the type of work she does."

Advertisers Pay $350,000,000 For Space in Newspapers

Despite continued shortage of newsprint, national advertisers are investing in U. S. daily newspapers at the rate of $350,000,000 a year — $80,000,000 or 29.6 per cent above the all-time high set by national newspaper advertising in 1946, the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Assn., estimated this week.

In issuing its midyear estimate, the bureau pointed out that although space shortages remain a major problem with many newspapers, it is nevertheless becoming increasingly possible to overcome space-buying difficulties as more and more advertising agencies adopt the practice of consulting newspapers and their representatives early in the planning stages of newspaper campaigns.

National advertising in weekday and Sunday newspapers last year reached a high of $270,000,000, topping by $10,000,000 the previous record set in booming 1929. The bureau of advertising figure for this year is based on an estimated total for the first six months of $175,000,000. The bureau estimate, issued by William G. Bell, director of research, is a projection based on the figures for national advertising in all media compiled monthly for "Printers' Ink" by Dr. Hans Zeisel, manager of research development of McCann-Erickson, Inc.

"The 1947 gains being scored by daily newspapers in national advertising in the face of continued paper shortage in scores of cities are concrete evidence that newsprint difficulties are not necessarily a serious hindrance to any advertiser or agency planning and placing newspaper campaigns," the bureau statement declared.

To assure insertion in newspapers especially hard-hit, maximum space limitations should be ascertained before campaigns are put into physical production.

Experience is showing in more and more cases, the bureau stated, that most campaigns can get into print if advertisers and agencies follow a few simple steps:

Newspaper representatives should be given details concerning the size, duration, frequency and space-size of contemplated campaigns, as far in advance as possible.

If at all possible, newspapers should be given the opportunity of using optional dates for insertions.

In this connection, the bureau said, it should be remembered that maximum-space restrictions do not necessarily rob a large-space campaign of visibility. In a newspaper accepting, for example, no national ads of over 1000 lines, a 1000-line ad possesses for all practical purposes a visibility almost equal to a full page in papers where no size restrictions are imposed.

Tom Tuite Elected Meat Dealer Chief

Meat dealers on the Peninsula don't know the answer to high meat prices, either, a spokesman reported Wednesday.

Earl F. Schmidt, of Burlingame, reelected secretary of the Peninsula Meat Dealers Assn. for the 22nd year, said meat prices were discussed at length at a meeting in San Mateo.

"But no one has any answers," Schmidt said, "business is slacking off because of the high prices, but it's out of our control."

He said most dealers felt prices would remain high so long as heavy buying here and abroad continue.

The association elected Thomas Tuite, Redwood City, president; S. Calcagno, Redwood City, vice president; and Fred Kleppe, Burlingame, treasurer.

Directors elected, in addition to the offices, were: A. Meyers, San Mateo; C. Hulberg, San Bruno; J. Kilpatrick, Millbrae; Benedetti, San Mateo and Ralph Hallett, Redwood City.

30 TB Patients To Be Boarded

The County Board of Supervisors will recommend to Dr. Charles C. Gans, county health director, that beds be found in boarding homes for some 30 tubercular patients needing care, Alvin S. Hatch, board chairman, said Wednesday.

This decision, he said, was made at a caucus meeting of the board Wednesday. A final report on the tuberculosis situation in the county and plans for construction of a new sanatorium will be made at the next meeting of the board, two weeks from today, he indicated.

The present Canyon Sanatorium does not have sufficient beds to handle all of those needing attention.

Hatch also said that an equitable solution to the dispute over rezoning a portion of Sharp Park from residential to commercial has been reached.

The board and the County Planning Commission met Tuesday in Sharp Park with businessmen and real estate agents, a total of about 30 in all, and discussed the problem.

He said everyone present seemed satisfied with that decision.

GARDEN: Japan Has World's Largest Greenhouse

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

According to the Science News Letter, the largest greenhouse in the world is in Japan and is being used for soilless gardening. The U.S. Army is in charge of the hydroponic installations in Japan, operating some 80 acres all told, which supply fresh vegetables to about 100,000 of our troops.

Japanese work the hydroponic gardens, and some of the scientists take the low garden labor wage prevalent there, in order to learn more about hydroponics.

Army uses the gravel method of soilless gardening. Long concrete troughs about three feet wide are built on the ground, with a gentle slope toward a sump. Every 48 hours the nutrient solution is pumped from the sump to the top tank and allowed to flow slowly through and back to the sump. There the nutrient content of the water is tested, and the solution is brought back to "just what the doctor ordered."

Vegetables are grown quite closely together, and labor is so cheap that instead of taking up a lettuce plant when the leaves are ready, they cut most of the leaves, but allow enough to remain to keep the plant growing. in this manner they get four cuttings of lettuce.

My only objection to the gravel method is that should a disease get a start, it would be difficult to disinfect all the crevices in the gravel and start over again. If the tray and liquid medium is used, it's easier to clean out quickly and make a clean fresh start.

The army hydroponics garden during the past year raised two million pounds of tomatoes, which gave each member of the occupation forces about 60 tomatoes.

Mrs. Jane H. Gilmore says: "I wrote asking you to send Pearl Harbor tomato seeds to several relatives in the East, and one was Arrel Henley, North Lima, O., which you did, and for which I thank you. Here's a report I received today: 'Must tell you about the tomatoes you sent. One of my neighbors walked over to look at them and the garden. He said 'My, that one stalk must have a bushel of tomatoes on it, and I've never seen so many tomatoes on one vine.' They are not very large, just a nice size, and so smooth, and the rain doesn't crack the skin like the other tomatoes."

LeRoy Smith of Berkeley writes: "When you suggest that your readers send in questions about gardening I feel like the old farmer who told a farm book salesman, 'Why should I buy a book on farming? I don't farm half as good as I know how right now'."

In spite of not gardening half as well as I could, the garden is really paying off this year. We have had all we could use and plenty to give away. So far we have canned a couple hundred quarts of fruits, vegetables, jams and pickles, and the end is not yet. . . .

We like the Marglobe, Victor, Improved Pearson and Pearl Harbor tomatoes. We had good luck with Marcross corn for an early variety and especially liked the Purdue cross golden bantam. The corn matured with but one heavy watering this summer. The Straight Eight cucumbers have done well, but we have had better results from the Heinz pickler special.

"Fall gardening is now well under way. I crossed up the quail by planting more pea seed than they could nip off.

"We have 15 flats of cabbages, etc., almost ready to go into the ground.

"The first trees did all right this summer. The apricot tree I top grafted two years ago yielded several pecks of fruit. The apples are keeping ahead of us and the little tree with 20 varieties grafted on it presents a mottled color of green, red, yellow and striped fruit.

"The biggest dividend of all is one which can't be weighed, measured or canned. It is the therapeutic effect on tired nerves and worried thoughts. Man can make a mess of his affairs, but the seasons of planting, growing and harvest run on and life is renewed and man can receive new hope and courage from his garden."

(If you haven't experienced this yourself, you won't fully appreciate the truth and sincerity of LeRoy Smith's words.)
